Perennials

The following collection will provide flowers from early spring to late autumn, and all of them are flowers of great merit. The "Perennial Garden" is a garden of beautiful things, and the plants which we list are the pick of this charming and enduring type of flower.

CALLIOPSIS. A splendid border plant with flowers which last well if cut for decorative work: colour bright yellow, borne on 2 ft. stems; foliage is a compact clump about 1 ft. high. Plant at 2 ft. apart.

CAMPANULA persicifolia. Handsome spikes of azure blue flowers, borne freely from summer to autumn. These bell-flowers make a delightful display with their tall, graceful habit. Height 3 ft. Plant at 18 inches apart in rows or beds.

CHELONE barbata. Showy spikes of pendent light scarlet flowers borne on 2 ft. stems. A dainty border plant of airy and attractive effect. Plant at 1 ft. apart.

GAILLARDIA. Handsome flowers in shades of maroon red and golden yellow, zoned into exceedingly handsome combinations. Height 2 ft. Plant at 2 ft. to 3 ft. apart. These flowers are 3 inches to 5 inches across and are borne from spring until winter. Excellent for bold work as a cut flower.

GERBERA (Barborton Daisy). The graceful daisy-like flower indigenous to some parts of South Africa which under cultivation makes a handsome decorative bloom and plant. The flowers are of all shades of crimson, carmine and red: height 2 ft. Plant at 18 inches to 2 ft. apart in beds or rows. Flowers from early summer to late autumn. Good blooms will measure 4 or 5 inches across.

HELENIUM autumnale. Bronze-yellow flowers borne in autumn on tall plants; a flower much esteemed for its colour. Carries a great head of blooms in early autumn. Height 6 ft. Plant in rows preferably, at 2 ft. apart.

MICHAELMAS DAISIES. See Perennial Aster).

PERENNIAL ASTERS (Michaelmas Daisies). Very hardy herbaceous plants. Vigorous enough to thrive anywhere. Flowering in early autumn, their foliage, which is graceful and compact, is a garden decoration from springtime onwards. Mixed varieties; white (dainty feathery foliage); Wedgwood blue; pale mauve; intense blue. Height 3 ft. Plant at 2 ft. apart.

PERENNIAL PENTSTEMON. A definite perennial variety of this very satisfactory garden flower. Grows 2 ft. in height, and bears heliotrope flowers profusely throughout the summer. Plant at 18 in. apart.

PERENNIAL SUNFLOWER, "Miss Mellish." (Fairy Sunflowers). This hardy plant bears flowers of a charming gold with maroon-brown eye. Its foliage is graceful and its blooms which are carried for several weeks in autumn are delicate and graceful. Makes a great garden display and the blooms are very suitable for cutting. Height 6 ft. Plant out at 2 ft. apart.

PHLOX decussata. Large panicles of exquisite flowers in many charming shades of pink, blue, mauve, and white. These handsome flowers are borne on upright stems which display their outstanding beauty to perfection. Fragrant, splendid for cutting. Long-blooming, from midsummer onwards. Height 2 ft. Plant at 20 inches apart.
